

Lesson Plans

February 26-March 2, 2018

Reading this week will continue with a review of skills such as main idea, summary, text features, and point of view. We will read and discuss several nonfiction passages and practice our skills in comprehension and decoding new vocabulary.

Spelling words will feature syllables and accented syllables this week. Our quiz will be on Monday, March 5 since these words are getting a little harder to learn.

In language we will continue to work on our final copy of research study paper. We are putting this together a piece at a time. Organization of thoughts and note-taking are key in this study.
