

Lesson Plans

January 29-February 2, 2018

This week in reading and writing, focus will be on nonfiction reading and writing. We will continue to examine text features of nonfiction work and we will research the person, place, or event that the students have been reading about. We will also continue to discuss main idea, summary, details, and introduce point of view and perspective.

Spelling words will have VCCV (doublet such as happen, matter) and VCCV (different such as basket, winter). VCV words (such as silent) will be the third feature we will study. The students will be responsible for sorting the words into categories as well as spelling.

Please remind your child to read each night. They really need the practice to boost their fluency and confidence.
