

Lesson Plans

September 5-8, 2017

This week, we will continue pre-testing in reading. Reading skills will continue to focus on getting the reader involved in the story and the study of characters. In writing work will concentrate on developing stories that the students have begun. Focus will be on story arcs and building characters.

Word Study will cover contractions. Students will bring home words to study on Tuesday and we will have a quiz on Friday. We will also begin close reading practice this week. This will be a daily lesson in which the students are able to look closely at a passage multiple times for vocabulary, comprehension, sentence structure, and text features.